The President "Envisions" Don't Buy Stingily Young Minds, Untrained Rays That Pierce Steel

Mr. Gilbert, who knows sometimes what goes on in Washington, says President Hoover, awaiting a report by his Dry Law Commission, "won't countenance repeal, but envisions modification."

The fact that he doesn't countenance repeal makes no difference, for it would be impossible to repeal the amendment. Seventeen States can prevent it, and only one than seventeen are "Dry forever."

The use of the word "envision" is something of which President Hoover was not guilty, needless to say.

One crime wave is bad enough, without butchering the English language.

It would be interesting to know just what kind of modification the President "envisions," also what his "reaction" is to the "mass psychology" produced by wholesale and retail bootlegging, murder, racketeering and all around deviltry.

Gandhi, sixty-two years old, spends the morning writing, making cloth on his small hand loom in the afternoon.

His remedy for India's troubles is to make cloth by hand to hurt Britain's trade and passive disobedience to Britain's rule.

How far that will get 200,000,000 inhabitants of India, with Afghans on the north, eagerly waiting a chance to murder them, and 60,000,000 Mohammedans, living in India, also hoping for an opportunity to eliminate Hindus.

A marvelously sincere, earnest, self-starving little man is Gandhi. But something else is needed for the problem that confronts him.

Colonel Michael Friedsam, as every merchant in America knows, is one of the ablest business men in the country. And it would be better for the country if more of its ablest men felt, concerning business, as Colonel Friedsam does.

He said to his board of directors at the most recent meeting:

"Know what you want, don't be afraid to buy it, and don't buy stingily."

Everybody asks, "What is the matter with business?" One answer is, "Too much 'stingy' buying."

Thousands of merchants, some of the biggest and many of the smallest, walk into the new business year as boys walk out on the ice in the early skating season, afraid to put one foot ahead of the other.

Colonel Friedsam, wise with the wisdom of years, and young with the energy of youth, sets a good example when he says, "Know what you want, buy it, and don't buy stingily."

The Reverend Bernard I. Bell, dean of St. Stephen's College, Columbia University, says American education is on the down grade, because our public school system gives "smatterings of predigested information, instead of . . . exercising the mind."

Pumping mental food into the human mind, like pumping mush into a Strasbourg goose, is not beneficial.

A boy turned loose on a farm, able to read and write, with some good books, a little arithmetic and geography, would have more education at twenty-one than nine-tenths of our school products.

Open eyes and think, and the majority of school children don't see and don't think.

Those still young remember the first announcement of X-rays. Pictures in Sunday newspapers showed, dimly outlined, skeletons of rats or cats revealed by X-ray penetration.

Next came X-ray pictures of broken bones. Now the X-ray is as much a part of industry as it is of surgery and medicine.

According to the latest amazing announcements the "Gamma ray" enables scientists to look through solid steel, beams of skyscrapers or the armor of battleships.

Thus weak spots can be detected, any defect inside of the metal being actually "seen." This reminds you that men can do whatever they can imagine.

Carey Russell, known as "Al," has arrived in America to lecture throughout the United States on agricultural life, possibilities of co-operation, and, above all, the art of making that life an ideal one of true happiness, as opposed to a life of sordid, endless labor.

Mr. Russell, an intensely patriotic Irishman, is a brilliant poet, and an artist of ability.

He comes, as he says: "To talk with us, not to teach us," and is much interested in the 93,000 abandoned farms in America, with their unused 19,000,000 acres, saying truly that the vitality of a nation "dies when its farms are brought to the point of exhaustion."

Good citizens, including Jane Addams, President Angell, of Yale; President Butler, of Columbia; Owen D. Young and Elihu Root, are interested in Mr. Russell's tour of the United States, arranged and underwritten by Mrs. Mary Harriman Rumsey, daughter of the late E. H. Harriman.

Tucker Upbraids Republicans In Speech Wednesday

There has never been such a change in the Republican Party as exists today, Congressman Harry St. George Tucker, of Lexington, said in an address Wednesday noon before a large crowd at the Court House. Mr. Tucker is the Democratic Candidate to succeed himself as representative in the Tenth Congressional District.

Hope and a belief that the Democrats will carry the House of Representatives this fall was stressed in Mr. Tucker's speech "The Democracy is shaking itself and getting ready for a fight."

Mr. Tucker pointed to the new tariff bill as one of the outstanding mistakes of the Republican Party. "Two months after the tariff was passed the exports of this country decreased two million dollars. Countries of Europe and South America have established retentory tariffs. Governor Harry Flood Byrd had a recent shipment of apples to Argentina sent back. Unles we ship abroad we can't have any trade."

Taking up the Farm Relief Bill, Congressman Tucker expressed doubt that any farmer had realized any aid from it, though it was passed last year.

"The Farm Relief Bill put the government in business, and it is the duty of the government not to go into business, but to protect the rights of business," he continued. "I did not vote for the bill, for I believed it to be the destruction not the salvation of the people.

"The Farm Reserve Board was established to put the farmer on an equal basis with the manufacturer. The manufacturer has been protected by a high tariff all these years, and is still protected by a still higher tariff. The government can not put money in the pockets of the people, but it can keep plunderers out. The tariff bill is higher than ever before, and it is robbing the farmer of more than the relief that he may possibly receive from the bill passed for him."

"They gave you farm relief in June, 1929, when they passed the farm relief bill and then passed a tariff bill in July, 1930, raising the duties higher than they had ever been, that took away from the farmers what had been given them under the farm relief bill. They generously, they say, put money into the farmer's pocket in the farm relief bill in June, 1929, and stealthily took from it the tariff bill in July, 1930, by the tariff bill what they had given them in the farm relief bill in 1929.

"Is that farm equality with the manufacturer? If they had given it in June, 1929, that advantage is it to the farmer to have it taken way under the tariff bill in 1930"?

"A change from the Republican Regime has become hardy a question of politics. There are nine million idle men at present in this country. We are suffering from a serious depression."

Recalling the campaign of 1928, Mr. Tucker said the promise of four years of Coolidge prosperity made by the Republicans, had not been fulfilled.

Mr. Tucker recalled criticisms of president Hoover contained in an address made several years ago by Representative Wood, of Indiana, then chairman of the Republican party, and contrasted these with recent praise of the administration and its leader, as given by Sen. Fess, present chairman of the party. In opposing a proposed appropriation of $100,000,000 to be expended by Hoover to feed Europe. Chairman Wood said, as read by Mr. Tucker, I think he is the most expensive luxury that was ever fastened upon this country. I think he will continue to be the most expensive luxury with which we have to do if we continue to give him unlimited power. "In the same speech he also said: I expect that when the final secretary comes, when the echoes of war cease to sound

Files Late; Name Not on Ballot

M. J. Putnam, of Clifton Forge, Republican candidate for Congress in the tenth district, will not find his name printed on the ballot because he forgot to file notice of his candidacy sixty-days before the November election. Judge Julian Gunn ruled in Richmond City Circuit Court.

However, supporters of Mr. Putnam can write or stamp his name on the ballot. Mr. J. A. Garber, candidate for Congress in the seventh district, also forgot to file notice and comes under Judge Gunn's ruling.

Lynchburg Man's Death Believed Caused by Apoplexy

About a mile from Appomattox, near Marshall's Filling Station, Charles A. Joubert, of Lynchburg, was found unconscious in his automobile. He was on his way to Richmond, when he was stricken. Workmen on the railroad saw the car leave the road and run into a fence. They hastened to the scene and found Mr. Joubert unconscious. A physician was immediately summoned but the patient died before reaching Lynchburg. His death is thought to have been due to apoplexy, and not to an accident with the car.

Plans Laid For Relief Work In Tobacco Area

Fifty Representatives From Sixteen Counties Discuss Drouth Aid At South Boston

With the determination to do, the best possible job of drought relief work in their respective counties, about fifty representatives of the tobacco-growing counties of Virginia met in South Boston on Tuesday to formulate plans which will meet the peculiar conditions applicable to this section. Sixteen out of seventeen tobacco-growing counties were represented at the meeting by chairman of the Drought Relief Committees and in a number of instances one or more members accompanied the chairman.

Sentiment in favor of the meeting was developed by T. W. Gwin, of Kenbridge, Chairman of the Lunenburg Drought Relief Committee, who on September 1st wrote each of the chairmen in the tobacco-growing section, suggesting that if a concerted plan could be submitted rather than each county chairman attempting to solve his own problems, a better drought relief service could be afforded the tobacco-growing counties. The suggestion brought an enthusiastic response from all sections and a date for the meeting was accordingly set.

CROP AVERAGES

It may be said that seldom has there been in this state a conference of business men in which the interests of the farmers were so earnestly discussed as at South Boston on Tuesday. So well informed on present conditions were the men who attended the meeting that practically a complete survey of crop prospects in the seventeen tobacco-growing counties of Virginia was made. The counties from which information was available at the meeting the average yields that will be harvested are: tobacco 42 per cent; corn, 26 per cent; hay, 15 per cent; cotton, 45 per cent; and other crops, 40 per cent. Four counties represented at the meeting will report later. Throughout the day 40 county chairman, agricultural agents and others interestedly ignored matters pertaining to the distressed conditions of farmers in the tobacco area and on many occasions the chairman of the meeting complimented the spokesmen on their thorough knowledge of the subject which indicated much study during the past two months.

The meeting was called to order shortly after 11 o'clock by Senator S. L. Ferguson, of Appomattox, who was chosen chairman and from that time until 4:30 with the exception of one hour that was taken for dinner the entire gathering diligently studied ways and means for giving relief to the farmers in distress by reason of loss of crops due to the drought. Thos W. Ozlin, who took the initiative in calling the meeting was introduced by Hon. S. L. Ferguson and asked to state the objects of the meeting.

SPRING CRITICAL PERIOD

Mr. Ozlin stated that the conditions which confronted the farmers of the tobacco-growing counties of that State were quite different from those in the cattle raising, truck and fruit growing sections and expressed the opinion that after the first of the year we would probably find a very critical situation, for while the farmers in this section of the state may have a sufficient supply of feed to carry our livestock over until January 1, after that date a great deal of feed will have to be obtained by them. Also he stated that February and March will be an acute time with our farmers in obtaining money to make another crop, and some will be utterly unable to make a crop unless they can get some financial aid. Mr. Ozlin also stated that the time when the reduced freight rates on feed stuffs will be in effect should be extended beyond October 31 if the farmers in the tobacco-growing counties were to have the benefit of this freight reduction for a great deal more feed will be needed in this section after that date than now. The purpose of the meeting, declared Mr. Ozlin, was to learn the conditions that existed in the tobacco-growing counties and devise some means of assisting the farmers who are unable to help themselves.

CROP REPORT

Questionnaires were handed to each chairman, who was asked to give information in regard to his county in order that a general survey could be made of this section. Fourteen counties reporting gave the following percentage of crops that will be harvested this year:

Prince Edward—tobacco, 50, corn, 40, hay, 20, other crops, 50.

Dinwiddie—tobacco, 55, corn, 30, hay, 40, other crops, 30.

Buchingham—tobacco, 40, corn, 35, hay, 15, other crops, 60.

Amherst—tobacco, 35, corn 20, hay, 10, apples, 15, other crops, 30.

Pittsylvania—tobacco, 40, corn, 10, hay, 10, other crops, 40.

Nottaway—tobacco 35, corn 20, hay, 20, other crops, 40.

Lunenburg—tobacco, 40, corn, 20, hay, 10, cotton, 40, other crops, 45.

Campbell—tobacco, 50, corn, 25, hay, 10, other crops, 60

Cumberland—tobacco, 35, corn, 10, hay, 5, other crops, 15.

Charlotte—tobacco, 30, corn 20, hay, 10, other crops, 10.

Brunswick—tobacco, 60, corn, 50, hay, 20, cotton, 50, other crops, 50.

Appomattox—tobacco, 30, corn, 35, hay, 15, other crops, 20.

Halifax—tobacco, 65, corn, 45, hay, 20, other crops, 65.

Franklin—tobacco, 20, corn 20, hay, 15, other crops 25.

RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE

Chairman Ferguson appointed a committee on Resolutions, consisting of Thos. W. Ozlin, Thomas G. Burch, B. D. Adams, W. D. Sandidge, and Col. Hiram Wall. Several suggestions for resolutions had been made during the morning meeting. This committee met during the noon recess, and just before the meeting adjourned, submitted its report, recommending strongly the extension of time for reduced freight rates on feed stuffs; the addition of fertilizer to the list of commodities allowed to move under reduced freight rates; securing an appropriation for the national Congress of funds to be loaned to worthy farmers, without other security than a crop lien, to enable them to make a crop next year; securing an appropriation from the National Red Cross, to be used in connection with local amounts raised, for the relief of charity cases; asking the state government to permit state deposits in banks in the agricultural sections to remain as long as possible, so as to enable banks to extend the fullest relief to farmers; giving employment to farm labor in state and county road construction, where it is economically possible; urging that a market be provided for pulp wood; and other general drought relief measures.

HUTCHESON SPEAKS

John R. Hutcheson, Vice Chairman of the Virginia Drought Relief Commission made the principal address of the meeting and told of the National and State plans for

Senator Ferguson Is Optimistic Over Drouth Situation

Great optimism over the present situation as it is being handled by drouth relief workers in stricken areas was expressed by State Sen. S. L. Ferguson, chairman of the county drouth relief committee, in an interview following the meeting of representatives from the tobacco growing counties in Virginia, a week ago Tuesday held at South Boston.

The drouth committees of the counties and the state have done, are doing, and will continue to do, wonderful work, Sen. Ferguson said. "They are practising and preaching economy and saving." I believe that the people of drouth stricken areas in Virginia as well as other States, are, by proper economy and saving, get through the year on half the amount heretofore consumed by families and stock."

He named the unemployment and credit situations as the two problems in calling the meeting to be solved. "I hope both may be solved within a resonable time, with industries resuming activities, fair prices for salable products of farmers, an extension of half freight rates by railway companies to cover fertilizers as well as feed stuff next spring and an appropriation enabling the federal government to extend credit to farmers for coming crops," he added.

Senator Ferguson firmly believes that with proper economy and the effort of the strong to help the weak, few people will go hungry or cold this next year. He reported optimism to be the keynote of the meetings of the county drouth relief committee as well as the South Boston meeting of which Senator Ferguson was also made chairman.

Ownership Changed

On October 1, 1896, the present owner and editor took charge of the then Appomattox and Buckingham Times, later it was consolidated with the Southside Virginian, in all 34 years of service.

He had a taste of pleasure and experience to work with such a loyal clientel and correspondents. We have not always been in accord with those in power, but we have endeavored to be fair in our criticisms and always courteous—directed by a conviction and proper courage to say and do that which we believed to be right.

And now after 34 years we surrender the ownership of the paper to Messrs. Crews and Goodman, two young men, who will conduct the paper along the same lines generally. These gentlemen already own the Bath Enterprise and Floyd Press.

We heartily commend these young men to our readers and the business men of our county. Begining October 1, 1930, you will pay your subscription accounts to the new owners.

With thanks for your steadfast support given me for 34 years.

I am sincerely
A. H. CLEMENT

Purse Lost

Last Thursday, between 5 and 6 p m., Mr. Jesse C. Staples, left his home near Evergreen and has not been heard of since.

He told his wife that he was going out to kill squirrels, but the rifle he carried was found on the path a short distance from the house.

Searching parties have scoured the wooded country in the direction he is supposed to have traveled, and railroad authorities and Virginia towns have been notified and his description was radioed from Roanoke.

Mr. Staples was an operator on the N. & W. Ry., and owing to his bad health, he has been on leave and not working for several months, but expected to return to work next month. He has a wife and a daughter 14 years of age.

He is 38 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches high, weighs 135 pounds, sandy hair and blue eyes; wore grey trousers, light shirt, black low shoes.

His people are very uneasy about him and any information about him will be appreciated. Notify this paper.

Mr. Staples came in Tuesday and his friends will take him to Richmond for medical treatment.

Our Big School

Appomattox High school has now settled down to work with same corps of teachers as last year and the enrollment which by no means complete, is now 588 pupils, 200 in High school and 388 in grades.

Thirteen busses bring children from nearly every section of the county and one from Gladstone. The classification has been completed and the schedule, controlled by a time clock, works nicely. Little folk are not kept in school all day, but attend in sections.

The first meeting of parents and teachers will take place on Friday afternoon this week at 2:30. All parents should attend this meeting.

Principal Crawley has posted a warning sign to all autoists to go slow while school is in session. He declares it is very dangerous to pass the school over 15 miles per hour and hopes he will not have to report any who violate this State regulation.

No change was made in books this year and it is hoped the State Board will go slow before other changes are made. It is expensive to change a school book.

Great Appomattox Fair

The great Appomattox Fair thrilled large crowds at night last week, when the association concluded its 4-day exhibition on Saturday evening. The day crowds were not large and the association will probably run behind as much as $500. Premium checks have been prepared and are now being mailed out, we are informed by the secretary.

The Midway was the best ever put on here, and the gaited and trained horses of Mrs. W. S. Corning and Frank Stanley charmed our people. The dogs and George Costello held first place on the stage.
